Dave Murphy to be new Telstar principal

If School Board agrees Monday

By ALISON ALOISIO

"I intend to reacquaint myself with some personalities I knew when they were shorter than I am," said Dave Murphy.

Murphy, an elementary principal in SAD44 for 17 years, will be recommended by Supt. Kent Rosberg to become the new principal of Telstar high and middle schools.

If approved by the School Board Monday, Murphy will replace Patrick O'Neill, who has accepted the principalship at Lewiston High School. He served as Telstar's principal for one year.

As for Murphy's replacement, Rosberg said the board would likely lay out a search and interview process for February or March. In the meantime, the lead teachers or assistant principals in each of the elementary buildings will assume more responsibility, he said. Murphy said he is currently working to make the anticipated transition a smooth one.

He said he is looking forward to developing a relationship with the Telstar students and their families, 90 percent of whom he said he knows. Rosberg said Murphy's familiarity will be an advantage, given the sudden resignation by O'Neill.

Rosberg said when he learned it was likely O'Neill would leave, "I asked myself, 'Who's the best qualified person I know at this particular time and place?' He's the best candidate."

Murphy said if hired, he would make a long-term commitment to Telstar. He is particularly excited about the Promising Futures program that is going into its third year.

The program, funded currently by a grant, provides adviser groups for students, seminars in special areas of interest, and a senior project program. "A lot of people are invested heavily in that," he said. "The potential for change has to come from within as much as from the administration."

Murphy said his experience in the lower grades would help "strengthen a K-through-12 approach to education."

Economy cited for drop in 2001 NTL attendance

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

The sluggish economy is having an impact on one of Bethel's leading institutions. National Training Laboratories has reported a 10 percent decrease in its Bethel business for this season.

Denise McLellan, NTL's director of operations and Bethel manager, said in a press release, "In an economic slow-down, major corporations tend to cut back on training programs, and our experience in Bethel is consistent with NTL's experience overall. We have been through periods like this before and we fully expect to continue our growth as the economy improves."

McLellan said the lower attendance is manageable as long as NTL makes responsible and appropriate financial adjustments. Those adjustments include canceling some labs and combining others.

Last year, McLellan said, about 675 participants traveled to Bethel to spend a week at NTL, studying applied behavioral science. While this summer's decline is not large enough to have a significant impact in the local economy, it is being felt by a number of local innkeepers that depend on NTL's business during the summer months.

NTL's roots go back to 1946, to

New Britain, Conn. Three social scientists, Lee Bradford, Ken Benne, and Ron Lippitt, went to New Britain to conduct a two-week race relations conference. In the process, they innovated a way of helping people learn about their relations with others.

A year later, according to a 50th Anniversary book published by the institute, Bethel was picked to host the first NTL conference because it was a "cultural island away from the daily care and work of participants." The early programs were held at Gould Academy. In the 1950's, NTL acquired the Gehring house, now known as the Founder's House, for a permanent summer home.

Today, NTL has nearly 400 members worldwide. All of them have achieved the training and credentials required of applied behavioral scientists, and more than 85 percent have doctoral degrees in the area.

NTL's programs are taught in other places, including Alexandria, Va., Clearwater, Fla., Laguna, Calif., Stowe, Vt., and Washington, D.C.

Andover's Dave Percival has collected 50-plus years of BMW motorcycles

By ALISON ALOISIO

Dave Percival of Andover didn't have much interest in motorcycles when he first went to Germany in 1958. He was a car man.

But that was before he got a real look at the German BMW motorcycle. "When I saw how it was built, how clean, how efficient it was, I decided I had to have one," he said.

"One" has since turned into about 90. Among those, Percival now owns a motorcycle representing almost every year of manufacture from 1923 (the first year they were made) to 1976. He's only missing three, from the early era, and is working on obtaining them.

'My true love is sidecar racing.'

DAVE PERCIVAL

Percival, who is retired from the logging and electrical energy business, has the representative collection of 50 BMWs on display in a three-room building on North Main Street in Andover. He suspects many people in town don't even know they're there.

He opens up the collection occasionally, as he will this weekend when a motorcycle meet comes to Sunday River Ski Resort. As part of the activities, motorcyclists will ride to Andover to have a look.

Percival started on his goal of collecting the motorcycles in the 1970s. Why did he stop with the '76 model?

That was when computerized electronics entered into the BMW's design, making it more difficult for him to work on the machines himself, he said.

The first motorcycle he bought for the collection was a 1950 police model. As he acquires the bikes, he takes each apart to inspect its con-

The public is invited to view a gathering of European-manufactured motorcycles expected to number in the hundreds this weekend at the Summit Hotel in Newry.

The second annual European Motorcycle Meet is attracting motorcycle enthusiasts from all over New England, according to Mike Stackhouse of Mason, the prime organizer.

RESORT RESPONDS ON RIVER

To the Editor:

In response to recent interest in the Sunday River, I would like to share some important information. In time, we hope that a survey of the entire watershed will pinpoint the causes of increased sedimentation and perceived decline of trout habitat. In the meantime, the resort will continue its blend of required and self-imposed initiatives that address the environmental quality of the Sunday River, and we feel minimize our impact to the watershed on which we so greatly rely.

The resort implements a wide variety of precautions to prevent erosion, including waterbars to impede the downward flow of winter runoff and careful and frequent vegetation of roadsides and slopes. In other aspects, we are working with the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District to voluntarily correct any non-point sources of pollution. These were discovered along the entire watershed during a comprehensive survey completed by a host of volunteers, including some from the resort.

The snowmaking pond located adjacent to the Sunday River has an inlet located in a natural eddy and pool that gravity-feeds the pond. Water is pumped directly from the pond to the snowmaking system. A majority of the water used for snowmaking is from the natural aquifer. Most important is that the river has never come close to the minimum amount of flow required by the state Department of Environmental Protection. The flow amounts were monitored closely during a four-year period in the 1990s. The restriction by DEP is to ensure that any reduction in flow will not impact the ecosystem of the river.

According to many people who have long studied or lived along the river, an historical look at the changes in flow and sedimentation provides various clues, and nature itself is one of the primary "culprits." It is well known that regular dredging of the river occurred in the 1960s because of the annual buildup of sedimentation. For better or worse, this type of management of our natural resources is no longer acceptable.

The recent Sunday River Watershed Survey indicates that a majority of sedimentation issues in the river are in tributaries that are upstream from the resort's snowmaking pond. We wholly support efforts by state and local officials to identify all issues along the watershed and to develop a sound management and restoration program. We will continue to be a part of the process. Marvin Collins, vice president of operations, is a member of the Sunday River Watershed Steering Committee.

A GREAT PLACE TO VISIT

To the Editor:

We, the Rev. Lowell O'Steen and wife Gwen from Lake City, Fla., spent the weekend in Bethel with our nephew, Orlando Fraser, and his mother, Mrs. Doris Fraser.

While in Bethel, we enjoyed the Mollyockett Day festivities. The parade was also an enjoyable event. We were impressed by the variety of entries and the orderly way the parade was carried out. Those who organized it are to be commended.

We also enjoyed a visit to Mt. Washington via the Cog Railroad. The ride up and down the mountain via the railroad was quite an experience.

Lowell particularly enjoyed the tour given him by volunteer fireman Eric Cheney. The meal served by the firefighters was great, and it was very obvious that the volunteer firefighters are a dedicated, well-trained, knowledgeable and courteous group of individuals that take their jobs very seriously and are very proud of their excellent facility. It was a pleasure visiting with them.

This is either the third or fourth time we have visited Bethel with Orlando. We always stay at the Norseman Inn. This is indeed a most restful and serene setting. John and Dale Cheney, in our book, are the number-one innkeepers in the world. The time spent in their dining area eating breakfast and visiting with them is always just wonderful.

Our visits in Bethel are always enjoyed very much and are so memorable. You have a great, friendly community, and we give thanks for a wonderful few days.

Lowell and Gwen O'Steen
Lake City, Fla.

THANKS FROM BETHEL FIRE

To the Editor:

The Bethel Fire Department would like to thank the community for the success of our fundraising events this past Mollyockett Day. We were overwhelmed by your support and a good time was had by all. In addition to raising nearly $1,000, the Fire Department enjoyed the teamwork of department members, the Bethel Ladies' Auxiliary, and "walk in" volunteers. We will be able to outfit the new rescue boat with basic boating and safety equipment and place the program into operation. The balance of the funds will be used for boat safety training and as a match for grant writing efforts for specialized rescue gear such as cold-water entry suits. The fact that the matching funds were raised by the community helps support our grant application.

Special thanks are in order for Gould Academy's kitchen support, Rebel Rec's potato salad, C.N. Brown's donation of propane, Big Apple's coffee, Seltzer and Rydholm's banner, Gaudreau's Repair for the Jaws of Life demo cars, Karen Jordan and Don Conant's dessert contributions, and Mabel Buniskas, Thirza Herrick, and the Red Top's help with strawberry shortcake. The firemen could not have served hundreds of meals in three hours without the help of the Bethel Fire Department's Ladies Auxiliary. Congratulations to Eddy Currier, who won the 50/50 Raffle and to all those who didn't win but took chances.

The Bethel Fire Department is proud to serve the community and is excited to put the new Rescue Boat Program into service. It is essential for rescue operations during floods, ice breakthrough and drowning victims, and specific firefighting support. The community has a history of providing the department with the best equipment and we feel the responsibility to maintain it and stay ready by training. Your support deserves our very best. Thank you on behalf of all the members of the Bethel Fire Department.

MOLLYOCKETT DAY THANKS

To the Editor:

Mollyockett Day is a long-standing tradition and truly a community celebration. The Mahosuc Arts Council would like to acknowledge and thank all the individuals and businesses that contributed to making Mollyockett Day a great day this year.

Carrie Rolfe did an excellent job presiding over the day's events as Princess Mollyockett. All the entrants in this year's parade are to be commended for their efforts. People have commented that it was one of the best parades so far. Thank you to The Bethel Citizen for being the parade sponsor and to Nancy Forest, Peter Lawton and Carrie Lizotte for coordinating and judging it.

For those who enjoyed the entertainment that was provided throughout the day on the common may thank the folks at Nickerson & O'Day, Inc., Unisource, Inc., Bethel Area Development Corp., Bethel Rotary Club, Java House, Bethel Inn and Country Club and Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce for their contributions. Local businesses also support Mollyockett Day by advertising in the annual Mollyockett Day booklet printed by Inman Printing.

This year's Mollyockett Day T-shirt was designed by local artist, Susan J. Mallory. It was worn by contestants in the second annual North American Wife Carrying Contest. This event is made possible by the generosity of our host site and premier sponsor, Sunday River Ski Resort. Our thanks go out to volunteers Mary McPheters, Brad Jerome, Susan Duplessis, Kelli Scotti, Randy Gilbert, Sonja Gilbert, Jenn Deshon, John Mason, Chris Otten, Susan Driscoll, Wendy and Dick Penley, Jan and John Todd, Joan Putnam, Levi Brown, Lennie Shaw, Marvin Collins, Scott Hamilton, Tim Bruce and patrollers, Chip Seamans, George Driscoll, Chuck Donnelly, Dillon Gillies, Greg Warner, Jeff Sterling, Jen Deegan, Nick Lambert, Jamie Ippolito, Carl Parisi, and Jordan Ginsberg.

Other sponsors of the Wife Carrying Contest include Sunday River Brewing Co., Pepsi, Vermont Pure Water, Fresh Samantha/Odwalla Bars, Hood, WBLM 102.90, Groan & McGurn, Maine Discount Trophies and Awards, RSN, Designs, R.A. Douglass and Sons, and Megalink.

Behind the scenes providing essential support were Blake MacKay, Blaine MacKay, Marguerite Graham, Doug Alford, Pete Rackliffe, Will Graham, Stuart Cross Jr., Margaret Haberman, Gould Academy's maintenance staff, D & E Sanitation, Doug Bennett & Son Septic Tank Cleaning Service, Olson's Tent Rentals, The Town of Bethel, Bethel Police Department, and The Sudbury Inn. And, of course, the fireworks sponsors, Les Otten and Dick Raso.

We look forward to seeing everyone on Mollyockett Day, Saturday, July 20, 2002.

CAR SHOW THANKS

To the Editor:

The first annual Telstar Car Show was a darn good time. There were 57 entries and all 16 classes had representation. Local people as well as car enthusiasts from other parts of New Hampshire and Maine, with the farthest coming up from Wells, participated in the show. Spectators at the show were treated to view and appreciate some resorted or original classic cars, trucks and motorcycles.

This car show would not have been possible if not for the efforts of many different people and businesses. Businesses who sponsored the trophies with their monetary donations were Leon Costello Co., Oxford Networks, Brooks Bros, Inc., Jack Cross Excavation, Lowell's Saw Shop, S & S Flooring, Cole's Custom Auto, and Western Maine Supply Company. Door prizes were provided by Frost Motor Supply Company, VIP, and NAPPA, all of Mexico; Kelly Auto Supply, Casablanca Cinema and BIG Adventure Center, all of Bethel; Wal-Mart of New Hampshire; and Marilyn Swan and Linda Howe.

Individuals who played a part in the show are as follows: Linda Howe, Bob Howe, Seth Howe, Jon Howe, Marilyn Swan, James Swan, Sonny Cummings, Bion Swan, Mike Swan, Brenda Wight, Brad Wight, Grayson Wakefield, Ken Cole, Alison Aloisio, Marybeth Bayerlein, Gina Douglass, Cathy Hurd, Debbie Martin, Ashley Gunther, Lisa Pivin, Jim Lunney, Sam Stickney, Lauren Hart, Dan Hart, Julie Hart, Katie Caddigan, John Reuter, Freddy Bailey, Braden Douglass, Jay Hanscom, Jacqui Wheeler, David Ojeda, Adam Smith, Caroline Raymond, Darrin Morse, Sarah Gamble, Mariah Seames, Anna Willard, Scott Withey, Joe Reynolds, Brenda Hurd, Nancy Young, Darcie Miles, Patrick O'Neill, Michael O'Donnell, Frank Burgess, Gloria Burgess. The collective efforts of all individuals and businesses helped to make Telstar's first annual Car Show a success.

The Telstar campus serves as an ideal spot to host car shows. The Telstar Car Show has endless future possibilities and is a great, positive addition to the Mollyockett Day festivities. The second annual show will be held on Saturday, July 20, 2002. We look forward to seeing the community and Telstar alumni supporting our local, public high school. See you on the fields at Telstar.

are run, as well. One is for a Master of Science in Organization Development, in conjunction with American University in Washington, D.C. The other is for a Master of Arts in Psychology with a Diversity Specialization, in conjunction with Cleveland State University in Cleveland, Ohio.

Seventy percent of the participants of NTL programs are from Fortune 500 companies such as Lucent, 3M, Motorola, and from local New England companies such as L.L. Bean and Hannaford Brothers. The participants might be consultants, human resource professionals, line managers, or individuals with no corporate affiliation. Many are trainers themselves, and will take what they learn back to their companies.

The participants come to improve their ability to understand themselves and others around them. In the labs they learn to observe behavior — both their own and others — and to act upon those observations.

2001 annual meeting here

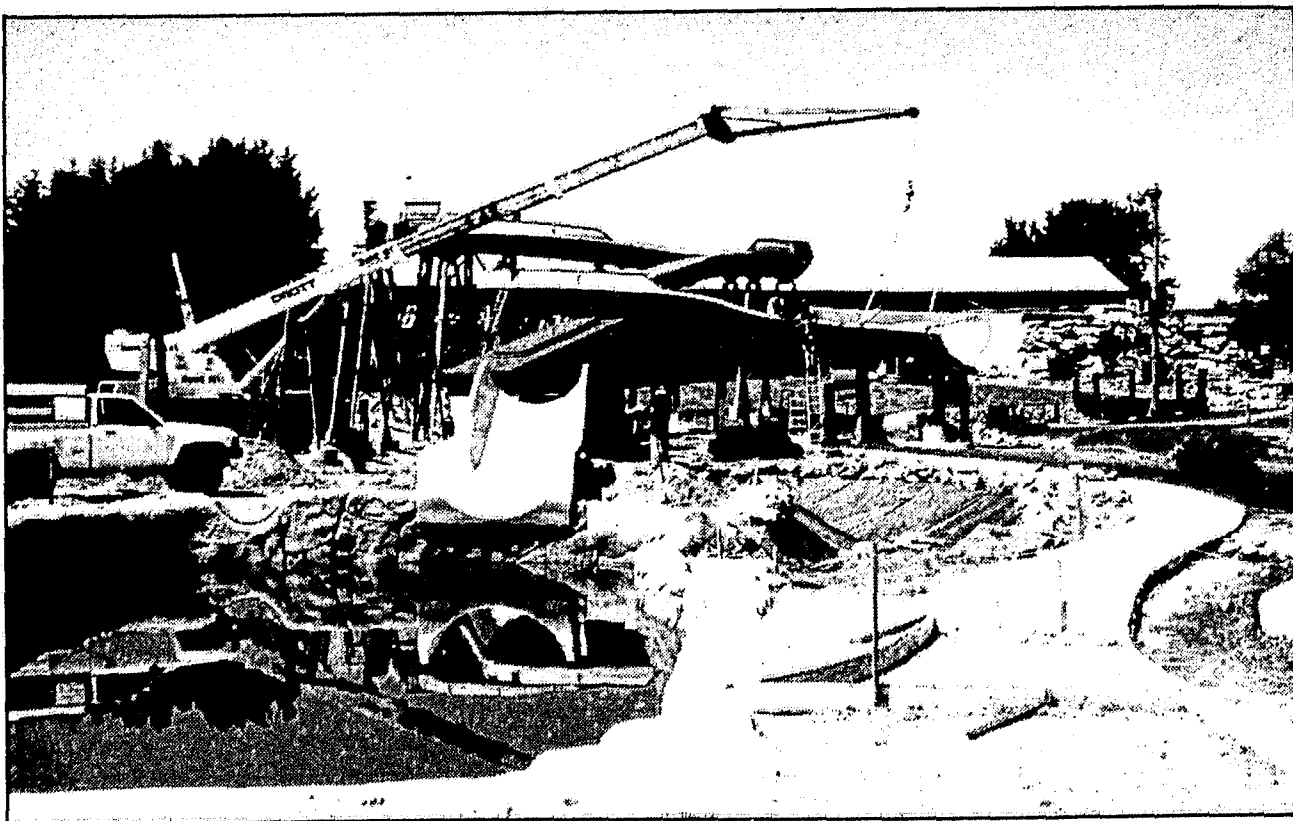

In recent years, NTL has reinforced its commitment to the Bethel area. Last week, the busiest session of the summer, NTL hosted the board of directors and annual members meeting here, bringing more than 120 people to the area. Those meetings, usually held at corporate headquarters in Alexandria, Va., are scheduled to be held in Bethel next year as well.

Part of NTL's commitment to the area has included renovating and upgrading the Founder's House and conference center. Over the last five years, a number of improvements have been made to the facilities.

In the press release, Diane Porter, CEO, said, "Bethel, our summer headquarters, accounts for fully one third of NTL's domestic and international training programs and will continue to play a major role in the continued growth and development of our unique organization."

The release concluded: "Both Porter and McLellan reiterated their gratitude for the continuing support of Bethel's businesses and community organizations and stressed the importance of the positive working relationships they have with the community in general."

Bethel area residents can participate in the workshops at a reduced fee. Anyone interested in registering can contact NTL at 824-2151 for more information. NTL also has an informative Web site, located at www.ntl.org.

ALMOST READY—The waterslide at BIG Adventure will open next week, with a grand opening planned for next weekend. Workers have been busy reconstructing the slide, which was moved from its original home at Sunday River Ski Resort. Adapting the supports to the flatter ground at the new site delayed the opening, according to owner Bill Dunton.

Briefly

Newry in line for grant

NEWRY—Newry has tentatively been awarded a $10,000 state grant to update its Comprehensive Plan. The grant is from the Community Planning and Investment Program at the State Planning Office. The grant requires a $3,333 local match, which the town has already appropriated. The grant is conditional pending approval by the SPO's Contract Review Committee.

Man charged with threatening

WEST PARIS—Kenneth Porter Connell, 40, was arrested last Wednesday at his home after threatening a woman with a shotgun. Connell was accused of using the gun to threaten Norma Brett of West Paris, who had come to visit him with her two sons. Brett called 911. Capt. Jim Miclon, working through dispatcher Teresa Grenier, was able to talk Connell into leaving his weapon and meeting him outside. He was charged with criminal threatening with a dangerous weapon, two counts of criminal threatening, terrorizing and reckless conduct with a dangerous weapon. He faces a Sept. 18 appearance in 11th District Court in South Paris.

Unemployment news mixed

REGION—The June unemployment rate in the Rumford area dropped from 7.7 percent to 7.5 percent. The figure is still twice the state average, according to analyst Gerard Dennison. But, he said, residential employment grew from May to June, increasing from 8,760 to 9,090. Gains were made in logging, trucking, construction, retail trade and lodging. In the Norway-Paris area the rate rose, from 4.3 to 5 percent.

Milfoil found in Gray

GRAY—A July 9 sighting of Eurasian milfoil on a boat at Crystal Lake is "the first obvious instance where a boat came into the state and we saw it had the Eurasian milfoil," said Roy Bouchard, a biologist with the state Department of Environmental Protection. He tested fragments of the plant that day. Visible fragments reportedly were removed from the boat before it was launched in to the lake. Whether the lake is actually infected won't be apparent for another year or two. So far, there have not been any in-state reports of Eurasian milfoil, which, like less aggressive milfoil species, travels by way of boats, trailers and gear. It clogs waterways and can interfere with ecology and recreational activities. Lakefront residents Cheryl and John Welch saw the plant on a ski boat-like watercraft parked at the Dead River store and gas station on the 9th. While talking with the boat owners, John Welch plucked plant fragments from the boat. The owners said they had used to boat the day before at New York's Saratoga Lake, which they found to be infested with weeds. The Welches implored the owners not to launch to boat in Crystal Lake that day, but the woman refused. The man finally agreed to clean their boat at a local car wash before using it.

Canoeist drowns in Saco River

FRYEBURG—A man from Massachusetts drowned in the Saco River over the weekend. The body of Edward Landry, 35, of Somerville was found floating in five feet of water Monday morning by a group of kayakers. Witnesses who had been canoeing with Landry said he had been drinking when they last saw him at about 6 p.m. Saturday, when the group stopped to camp for the night. Everyone in the group thought he was with someone else, including his tentmate, according to Mark Latti, spokesman for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. He was not reported missing until around noon on Sunday. His death was the first drowning this year on the Saco River.

Youth field day planned

WATERFORD—A Maine Youth Field Day will take place Aug. 18 in Waterford. The event, one of four in the state, will provide boys and girls ages 8 to 15 the opportunity to learn various outdoor skills. Activities will include fishing, .22-caliber rifle and shotgun shooting, black powder riflery, archery, ATV riding and a trapping demonstration. Each station will be staffed by certified instructors, Maine guides and other outdoor professionals. There is no fee for the program. For more information call 743-6290.

Hike on Wright Trail

BETHEL—The Bethel Outing Club and the Mahoosuc Land Trust will host a hike on a portion of the Wright Trail on Goose Eye Mountain in Riley Township on Saturday, Aug. 4. The hike is intended for all ability levels and age groups. The trail is located on the east side of Goose Eye Mountain and accessed from the Sunday River Road in Ketchum. The two-and-one-half-mile section of trail that has been chosen for the hike follows along Goose Eye Brook, and offers a mix of gentle to moderate inclines and descents. The trail passes along several pools and a dramatic gorge. Don Feeney, a local forester, will speak at the start of the hike about some of the natural history that would be typical in this northern hardwood forest environment. Dick Hoeh of the Mahoosuc Land Trust will also be available to share information about that organization. Mike Cooper, Bethel Outing Club member and trail designer, will be along as a resource during the hike. Hikers should bring a daypack containing extra layers and a full water bottle. Hikers will be encouraged to gather for a BYO picnic at the conclusion of the hike around noontime. A suitable location near the brook at the base of the trail will be selected. In order to avoid difficulty in locating the trailhead, a designated person will be available at 8:30 a.m. in the Sunday River Brewing Co. parking lot on Route 2. The hike will go from 9 a.m. to noon. Hikers may gather there and travel together to the trailhead if they wish. Please contact Betsey Cooper at 836-3808 for more information.

Three hurt in Sunday River crash

NEWRY—Three people were injured last Tuesday in an early-morning truck accident on the Sunday River Road. Parker Gray, 22, of Newry was the driver of a 1990 Toyota pickup truck that rolled over several times in S-turns on the road, according to State Police. Gray sustained head lacerations and was taken to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. Passenger Caitlin Corrigan, 20, of New Gloucester was listed in critical condition at Stephens Memorial Hospital for a time with lacerations and abdominal pain. Both were released later in the week. A second passenger, Jeremy Cowin, 19, of Newry was treated and released at Stephens. Speed was a factor in the accident, according to police.

County fair gets $25,000

AUGUSTA—A bill enacted by the Maine Legislature has allocated $25,000 to the Oxford County Fair Society to help compensate for the Society's extraordinary costs in moving its entrance, necessitated by changes on Route 26 in Oxford. According to state Sen. Rick Bennett, the society expended much more than the $25,000 amount in cash and in-kind work to changes in infrastructure. The money will enable the Oxford County Agricultural Society to continue to make capital improvements, according to Suzanne Grover, vice president of the society. Rep. Tom Winsor (R-Norway) sponsored the bill.

Deer permit deadline approaching

AUGUSTA—Licensed hunters have until Aug. 1 to submit applications for a 2001 any-deer permit. Application may be made online at <http://www.informe.org/ifw/hedeer/>. Hunters can apply for a permit for only one of the wildlife management districts. Statewide, 54,000 permits will be issued. A random drawing in September will determine who will receive permits. Applications may also be obtained by calling 287-8000.

From the Bethel Police Log:

The dog days are here

At 3:32 p.m. on July 17 the animal control officer received a report that a subject walking on the Intervale Road had been attacked by a dog. Investigation revealed the animal had not been vaccinated for rabies. It was euthanized at the Bethel Animal Hospital and a rabies test performed. At the request of the victim, the dog's owner was not summonsed.

Thursday, July 19

At 9 a.m. police issued Everett Chase a criminal court summons for failure to comply with registration requirements for sex offenders. He moved to Bethel about three months ago.

At 12 noon a dog was attacked by a second dog under the control of Cynthia Flores, 29, of Bethel. She was charged with keeping a dangerous dog.

Friday, July 20

At 2:30 p.m. police received a report of a theft of equipment from a job site off the Intervale Road. The suspected vehicle was a rust-colored Jeep Wagoneer with Maine plates and two male occupants, last seen traveling toward Rumford Point on the Intervale Road.

Sunday, July 22

At 4:13 a.m. police received a report of a stolen motor vehicle on Walkers Mills Road. The vehicle had last been seen heading north on Route 26. The officer met it at the Intervale Road, and when the driver realized the officer was turning around, accelerated rapidly. Police pursued up Main and Vernon streets. The vehicle was then found off the road at the intersection of Kilbourne and Vernon. The driver fled on foot. A K-9 unit responded but the subject could not be apprehended.

At 11:30 p.m. a caller from Wilson's Rips reported seeing a blue heron flying very low before crashing to the ground. The caller noted the bird tried to regain its footing before dying. A check for West Nile virus was planned.

Monday, July 23

Tina L. Coolidge, 24, of Bethel was issued a summons for cruelty to animals for abandoning a mother cat and three kittens at her residence when she moved.

Murphy

As for his leadership style, it would be a continuation of his elementary school philosophy. "I intend to be a visible principal," he said.

Personally, Murphy said he feels fortunate to have had the opportunities for career advancement within the same district. "A lot of people have to move a lot of times in their career to make changes," he said.

Murphy came to SAD44 in 1984 as principal of the Woodstock Elementary School. He has served as principal at Andover Elementary and Crescent Park Elementary schools since then, and currently is elementary principal for all those schools. He has also served as curriculum coordinator.

Murphy holds a doctorate degree in education.

Kelly Scotti, board chair, said Tuesday, "I'm disappointed to see Dr. O'Neill leave, but I'm excited about how the district is handling his departure." She said she believes Murphy's hiring would be "a positive for the district."

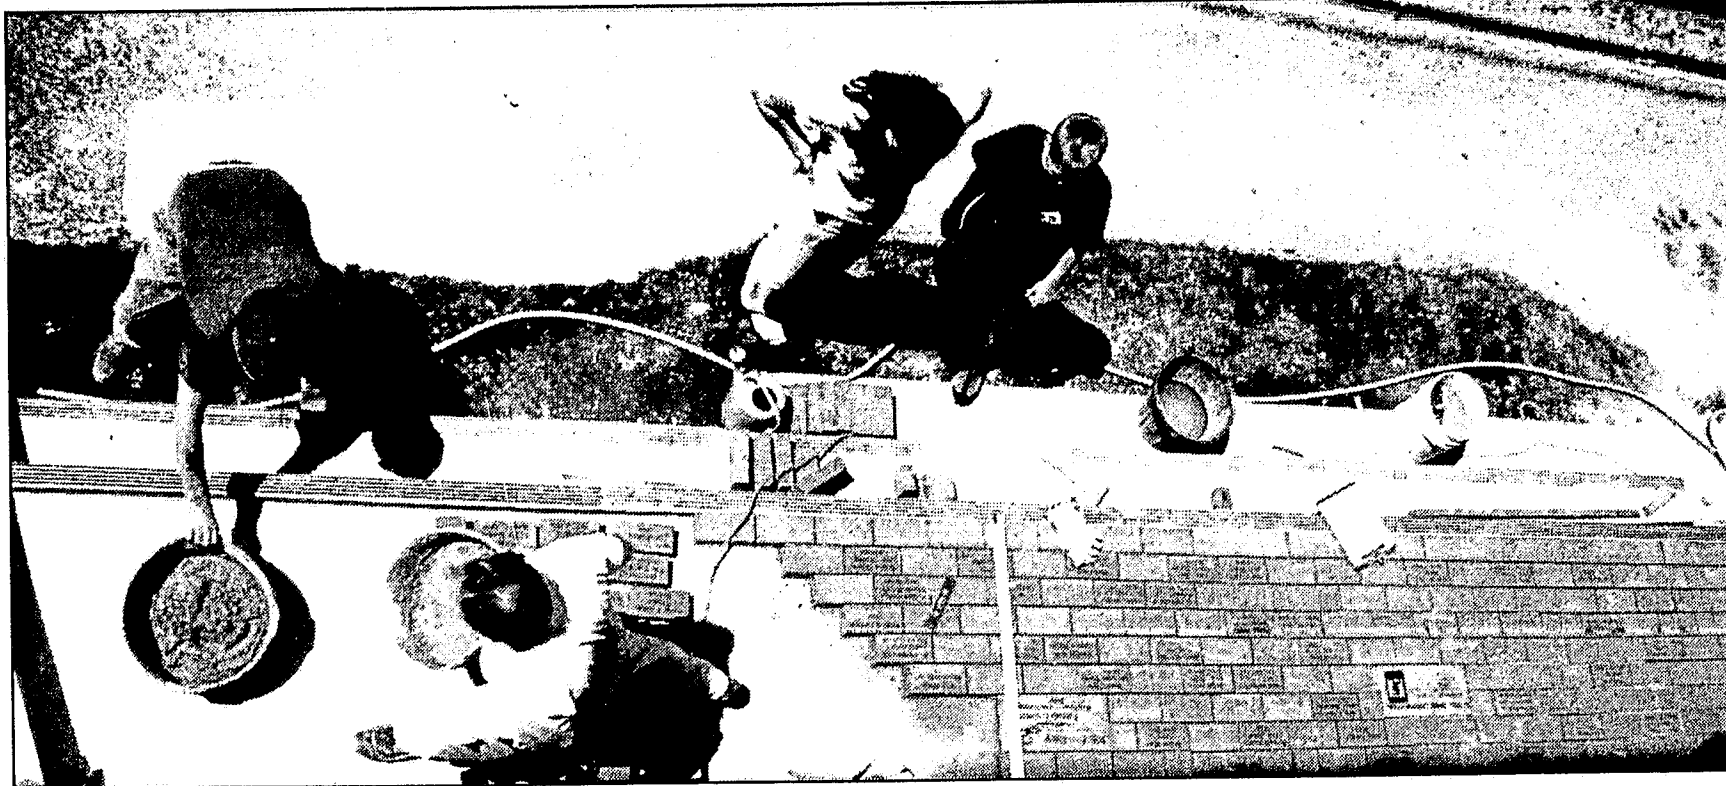

Mixed feelings for O'Neill

O'Neill said Tuesday the decision to leave Telstar after only a year "hasn't been easy." Like Murphy, he said he will work to make an efficient transition to a new principal.

In Lewiston, he said, he will have the opportunity to work with a former colleague, Dr. Donald Canan, who is the director of the vocational center at Lewiston High School. He said they share similar philosophies on student aspirations. O'Neill will take over leadership of the largest high school in Maine, with a population of 1,250 in the main school and 800 in the vocational school. The size is not unfamiliar territory for him, however. Before coming to Telstar, he was principal of a vocational school in Massachusetts that had a similar population.

In looking back at his short time at Telstar O'Neill, like Murphy, sees the Promising Futures program as a highlight. "It's been a wonderful thing for Telstar," he said.

And personally, he said, "I've learned a lot working just that one year. A lot of good things happened." He said he hopes he can bring the small-school leadership approach he learned at Telstar to the larger high school.

MILLENNIUM BRICKS
Mason contractor Neil Donovan and his crew have been installing bricks on the new walkway in front of the Bethel Town Office this week. Some of the bricks are from the millennium brick project, part of Bethel's 2000 Millennium Celebration. They were purchased by companies, organizations and individuals and inscribed with names. The work is expected to be done in the next couple of weeks, according to Don Murphy, Bethel CEO. Here, seen from the second floor of Odeon Hall, Donovan (right) and Studle Cross place bricks as passersby watch.

dition, doing some of the tinkering himself. He hires out other work, such as painting and detailing, or major engine work.

Percival said he is not a purist when it comes to giving an old motorcycle new life. For example, just before World War II, there was no chrome available to put into the wheel rims. But in fixing up his motorcycles, he said, he does put chrome rims on them.

"I'm not as interested in original authenticity as I am in putting a nice motorcycle back together that's good to look at," he said. And, he said, all of the BMWs on display run.

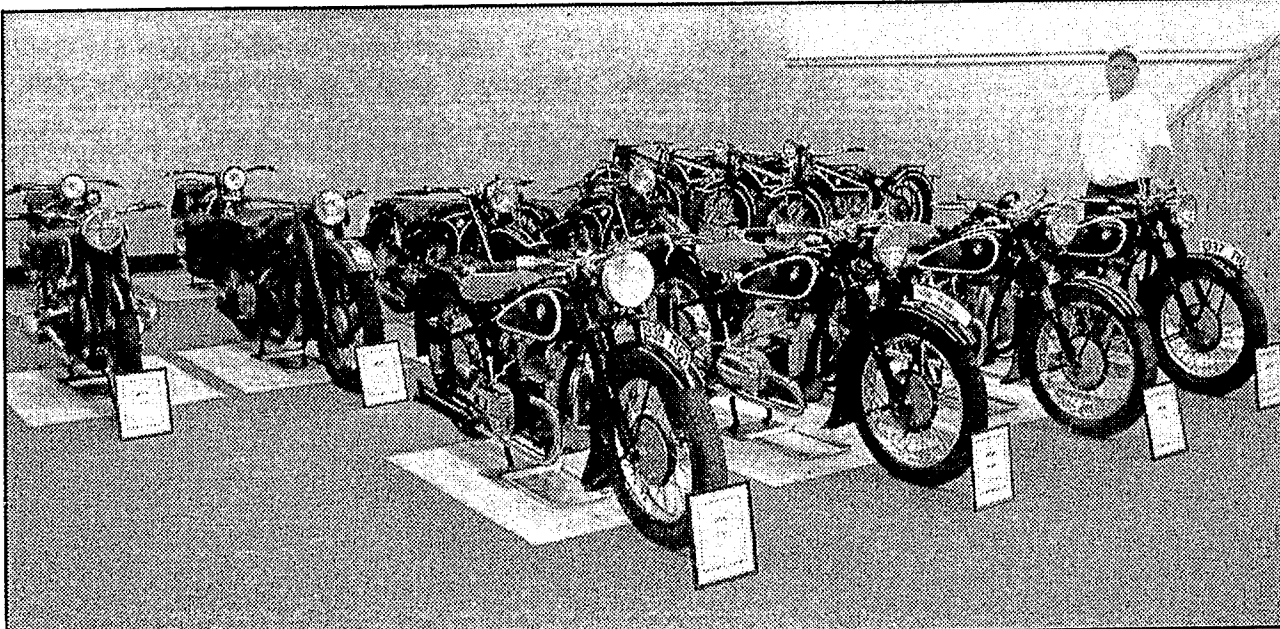

Where they come from

He has acquired motorcycles through many means, from painstaking search to simply coming across one through another collector, often someone in Europe.

There is, for example, the 1936 model he bought two years ago. "It came out of a barn in Belgium," he said. A Dutch collector first offered the BMW to an Australian collector. He wasn't interested, but he knew Percival, and suggested the Dutchman contact him.

"I flew to Europe to look at it," he said. "It had obviously been in the barn forever. If it could just talk to us and tell us what it's done," he said.

The motorcycle was one of 760 built. It appears to have a second coat of paint over military paint, said Percival, indicating it was used by the military. Like his other motorcycles, he will take it apart for careful inspection before restoration.

A 1955 BMW with a sidecar comes from East Germany, bought from a German who finally gave up riding it at age 86.

"My true love is sidecar racing," said Percival. He competed as the passenger in sidecar races when he was in Germany in the late 1950s, serving in the U.S. Army.

His oldest motorcycle is the 1923 model, the 103rd bike built. The date of manufacture and the first dealer or owner can usually be traced through the BMW company, he said.

His most famous motorcycle is a 1954 model. Only the engine is original, but that is the key component. It was one of only 25 engines built especially for racing. After acquiring the engine in 1996 and determining its authenticity, Percival had the rest of the motorcycle recreated around it.

"This is the ultimate machine (for a BMW collector) to have," said Percival.

The engine was the third one built in the 1954 series. Percival contacted the original owner, who sent him pictures of the motorcycle racing. They are displayed with it.

Percival said he may hold an open house, beginning next year, to allow the public to view the BMWs. Last year a motorcyclist from the Sunday River meet marveled at the location for such a collection.

"Why Andover?" he asked me," said Percival. "I told him, 'You've got to be somewhere.'" touring, he said: "We've got some of the best roads in New England."

Stackhouse has been an avid biker his whole life, and owns three European motorcycles himself.

Last year's event, organized with only minimal publicity, attracted about 100 motorcyclists, Stackhouse said. A featured activity was a tour of Dave Percival's BMW motorcycle collection in Andover (see related story).

"Dave blew them away," said Stackhouse, with his impressive collection. The tour will be a key part of this year's gathering, also.

Another tour, this one through the mountains of Maine and New Hampshire, is planned for Saturday morning. The ride will serve as a fundraiser for the adaptive-skiing program at Sunday River. The motorcyclists themselves will be the contributors.

Because registration takes place at the event, Stackhouse said it is difficult to predict the exact number of participants. But from feedback he has received over the Internet, he said, "I think it will be quite a bit bigger (than last year)." Most of the motorcyclists will be from New England.

Stackhouse said he believes the motorcycle gathering could grow to between 1,000 and 1,500 bikers in future years, as it becomes established.

Among the makes of European motorcycles present at last year's event were Ducati, Aprilia, MotoGuzzi, BMW, Triumph, Matchless, Norton and MV Agusta.

Stackhouse said the best time for the public to view the motorcycles will be on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information, call (800) 543-2SKI.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Pat Carter and Jane Young were in Framingham Center, Mass., last weekend visiting Jane's sister, Ina Carey, who is in a nursing home.

Sarah Stevens is at Stephens Memorial Hospital following an angina attack.

Scott Fraser is building a home on Paradise beyond the former Coburn's Flower Shop and residence.

Tom Davis of Pittsburgh, Pa., with friends in the WIND music group played at Suds Pub (at Sudbury Inn on Main Street) on Saturday evening. The Davis family was represented by Tom's brothers, sisters and their families, the Keniston family and cousins, making it a real family reunion.

The group, WIND, provided special music at the Congregational Church on Sunday with the Rev. Dr. Tracy Keenan from this group preaching the sermon.

Michael McGuire and children of Farmington and Xzavia from the Bronx spent Mollycoddett Day with Jean McGuire and enjoyed the parade and special activities of the day.

Wayne Davis of Green River, Wyo., is spending some time with his parents, Bob and Polly Davis.

Claire Cantrell is staying with her brother and wife, Hi and Mary Lou Berry, at Lone Pine while visiting family and friends in the area.

Gil and Carol LeClair of Arizona spent last Wednesday and Thursday with Hi and Mary Lou Berry.

It seems like more than ever Mollycoddett Day has turned into a homecoming for Bethel residents and local communities. Everywhere I looked it was to see friends whom I hadn't seen in some time, and I'm a native.

Orlando Fraser of Vidalia, Ga., spent several days last week visiting with his mother, Doris Fraser.

Phyllis Stevens of Oxford spent several days with her sister, Doris Fraser.

A group from the area enjoyed a Harley Trip for six days to Nova Scotia including Frank and Pat Lowell, David Lowell and Wendy, David and Betsy York, David and Nathalie Berry, Dave McKenna and Penny Mann, Floyd and Cindy Emerson.

Lee and Ginny Hutchins visited Michael and Pamela Hutchins in Salisbury, N.H., on the weekend. Barbara Douglass is visiting with them this week.

Isabelle Bennett of Massachusetts spent last weekend with Linda Westleigh.

While Sylvia Bird Hoey was spending the past week with her niece, Jackie Schuesler, she had many callers, including Wilma Gorman, Arlene Brown, Mary Eichel, Colleen Boyd and Mary Keniston.

Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

Three good meals on Monday, egg and toast for breakfast, hot roast beef sandwiches at noon and soup and English muffin at night. The soup is always good, and hot too. I often ask for it at noon instead of either of the other choices.

Grace and I went to church on Sunday to hear Bob Schuesler.

Certainly hope you are feeling better, Pastor Rick and Olga.

Thanks to folks for the cards, letters and visits.

Some apartments at the Bethel House were inspected recently. This is done once a year and about five are inspected, but you never know what apartments they will be.

Vada and Dewey and Drew and Judy visited me Tuesday. Vada and I played three games of cribbage. I won two.

Drew and Judy brought my books to me but one was missing. The title is "Sophia's Heart." If someone borrowed it to read that is okay, but please be sure to return it so Drew can bring it to me.

Congratulations to Davey Hanscom on winning the Citizen of the Year plaque from West Bethel Grange.

So many have asked me to continue to write a column for the Citizen each week. I plan to do so as long as it is possible.

Warren Powers said he received 2.5 inches of rain recently.

A letter mailed to Warren Powers in Newry from West Paris on July 2 reached its destination on July 12. I heard Norway postmarked it twice.

Congratulations to Davey and Amy on the birth of Emily Ruth.

I was surprised and pleased on Tuesday when Hugh and Marjorie Awalt visited me. They also visited her mother. They said they enjoyed my column in the Citizen.

Pastor Rick was in again to play cribbage. He won by a few holes. Most of our games are close, but he wins more than I do.

George Cummings of San Diego, Calif. is spending a few weeks with Nancy and Sonny Cummings.

Brian Cummings and friend Jeanne of Anchorage, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorne and family; Ruth Sorofman and granddaughter, Lena, of Georgia are also visiting Maine for a while.

June Heath York and her husband visited me on Thursday. June and I worked at Hanover Dowel many years ago.

I received two birthday cards on July 12.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham
Summer has begun an all-out attack on normal Maine residents. These last few days have been hot, humid, hazy and ozone-horrid. Many like the heat. I prefer cool. I try to swim as often as possible. Even Tasha was more than willing to jump in the car when I said we were going swimming. Sunday, having only a small amount of time and being very cognizant of the danger of the high ozone level (I am definitely in the category that those with breathing problems should stay indoors), I decided to swim closer to home in a relatively safe place. We went to the "Letter S" swimming hole. The water was high — someone had dammed up the river. It made it a nice swimming hole, and people were enjoying it. I also noticed that the water seemed to feel a little greasy. It almost felt like motor-boats had been going through it. That, of course, is not possible because of the rocks. Nonetheless, I am concerned about where that greasy feeling comes from. Any one know the answer?

Last weekend was Mollycoddett Day in Bethel. The heat not withstanding, I had a great time visiting with old friends and new. Like many, I find that Mollycoddett Day is often the only time I get to see many people. I especially enjoy the parade. This year it seemed longer — perhaps because of the heat — and there seemed to be more floats. That is always good to see. I wish the awards ceremony could be heard all over the commons, because I missed it. I guess I will find out today in the Citizen. I also enjoyed the fireworks. I'm really just a kid at heart.

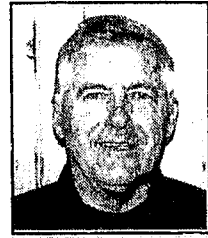

This summer seems to be flying by. There is never enough time to do all that I want. I need many more hours in the day to keep my garden in shape. At present, it looks like I will get not much beyond lettuce and maybe some squash and a few peas. Many seeds have not come up at all. The tomatoes are looking good, though. On my days off, I spend hours in the garden in short sessions. I cannot be out for too long when the ozone is up, so I do many short intervals of one-half hour to 1 hour. Over the course of the day that adds up. Of course, I took Saturday off, but Friday and Sunday I was there.

Tonight is the Bethel Area Poets reading at the Sunday River Fire House. It is on Sunday River Road about one-quarter mile from the Access Road turnoff. Hope to see everyone there.

That is all for this week. Have miles to go before I sleep tonight. Take care and have a good week.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover
A couple weeks ago, I was drilling a 5/8-inch hole in each of 200 pieces.

Once set up, it was a matter of putting the piece in place on the machine, pushing the start button and waiting about 20 minutes for the drill to break through the other end. This gave me lots of time to stand by the back door of the shop and admire our surroundings. One day, I noticed a round hole about 1/2 inch in diameter in the ground next to the concrete pad outside the door. Soon, a large wasp, nearly 2 inches long emerged from the hole, bringing sand, which it spread out with its hind four feet. The wasp was black, with orange legs and a wide orange band about its middle. It was busy making trip after trip down the hole and bringing up dirt and sand. Then, I noticed another six or seven similar holes in a rough circle, each with a large wasp busily digging.

On one of my "time-killing observation periods," I noticed two wasps fighting over something that looked like a gray stick, about an inch long. Then, one wasp picked up the object and flew with it over to a nearby goldenrod flower. Curious, I followed for a better look. On closer inspection, the wasp had the body of a dead grasshopper, which it was either mating with or laying eggs in. I'm assuming the latter, since only a few demented humans might try the former. Soon, the wasp took the grasshopper body to a wasp hole and shoved it down the hole.

At other times, I tried putting cherry pits down the holes. (Brother Rupert had brought a batch of cherries to the shop for us to dispose of for him). The wasps easily carried the pits out of the holes and threw them on their dirt piles. Small stones were likewise removed. Then somebody put a stone just slightly larger than the holes into one of them. The unlucky wasp with this hole had a problem. It could lift the rock, but couldn't quite back out of the hole with it. So, it began digging around the rock. This only let the rock sink further into the hole. Finally, the wasp began to dig along one side of the stone until it could almost get past the obstacle. Then, disaster. The wasp dislodged a triangular shaped rock from the side of its hole. This rock slid down and lodged in the hole beside the bigger rock. Neither of these stones responded to efforts to remove them. Then, it was quitting time and I went home. Next day, I couldn't find this hole. Other wasps were still busy with their holes.

Over the weekend, Toolman Bob Mercier, an interested observer of wildlife, looked up the wasps in some kind of reference he has at home. The report: These are "great golden digger wasps." They dig six to eight holes in a circle, in which they lay their eggs. Then they kill crickets or grasshoppers and put the bodies into the holes for the emerging wasp larvae to eat. Just like the ones we have at the shop.

I'd just like to take this opportunity to say thank you to the real Mollycoddett. She must have been quite the woman to have harnessed the love and respect of enough people to still be the center of a community celebration this many years beyond her passing. I don't really know too many facts about her. I've read she was a renowned healer with herbal remedies and a feisty independent spirit who traveled widely about the area via canoe and horseback.

When I contemplate the lifestyle of my own female ancestors of the same historical period, I'm afraid they were much more restricted in their movement and tied to their homes and husbands. The social fabric of their lives celebrated the quiet, hardworking woman who sublimated her own passions to unselfishly support and nurture her husband's agenda.

The picture of the model woman in my genes is happy to live in her husband's shadow putting up pickles and sauce and sewing mighty quilts to keep out the winter draughts. She bears her difficulties in silence and her social life is satisfied by the close proximity of one or two neighbor women in the same boat.

When she writes in her journal, she writes about the weather, the pastor's Sunday sermon, and who came visiting. This is the woman who emerges in my archetypal memory as I weed my garden and count the bags and jars of produce that begin to fill my shelves. This is the woman who whispers "Don't worry, be happy" and stay home. Is this woman me? I think not.

When I sit beside my husband as he drives, white-knuckled and headachy from clenched teeth, I wonder what I'd be like if the model woman in my personal history had been more like Mollycoddett.

This is where imagination can jump in to help save the day. Let's see — Mollycoddett could pick up her canoe and set off downstream to go visiting. She could fuel her journey on a natural current and if her teeth had been clenched too long from going faster than she liked, she could pull out and stop. I doubt she wore bite guards to sleep.

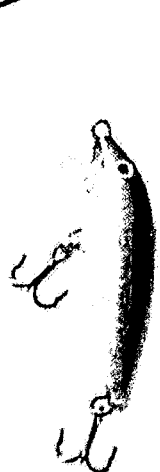

She wouldn't be afraid of some weirdo in the woods. Her head wasn't full of daily horrors fed by the media. She wouldn't be tense about missing an appointment because she was on Bethel time. She didn't look for work based on the availability of benefits because she took care of her own health, and gave freely of her herbal knowledge to those in need.

Her husband didn't seem to mind her jaunts and she still managed to fashion a nice quill purse to keep her money in. She didn't seem to spend a lot of time worrying about what ifs and she didn't carry liability insurance.

But people today are still celebrating her life with parades and fireworks. Her festivities rank right up there with the Fourth of July. I believe I'll celebrate Mollycoddett much more consciously in the future.

Even my imaginary portrait of her life sustains me with more authenticity than the honorable male sidekicks of my imagined female history. I celebrate a woman who is brave enough to have a life to call her own, and a man who is secure enough to let her.

And I'm delighted to be a part of a community of people that celebrate a truly free woman's life with as much fanfare as the birth of a nation. Now, where's my paddle?

Alder River Grange's supper schedule is:
Aug. 25, Yard Sale and
Chicken B-B-Q;

Sept. 15, Chicken Pot Pie Supper; Oct. 13, Harvest Supper; Oct. 27, Halloween Party for all; Nov. 4, Turkey Supper. All suppers are at 5 p.m. and adults pay $5 and children under 13 pay $3. We are looking for any treasures that you may wish to donate to the Grange for the yard sale. Please, no clothing. Call Stan Howe (824-2291) or Nancy Mercer (824-3350).

Nina Mollicone vacationed in Burlington, Vt., returning on July 20. While she was in Vermont, Carolyn Grant of Winterport, Elsa

Grant of Laurel, Md., and Alice Grant of Cape Elizabeth visited at the Noyes Homestead from July 16 to 21. Mandy and Courtney Jackson of Old Town visited, also, on the same dates.

Marilyn Mollicone of Augusta visited at the Noyes Homestead on July 14 and again on July 21. Ellen Brandt and sons, Keaton and Milo, of Groton, Mass., visited Jack and Lucy Nordahl on July 16 to 23.

Brandon "Elvis" Moore was in Lowell, Mass., on July 20 to do his impersonation of Elvis, and the people loved it.

Paul and Charlotte Kimball were at Peter Baker's birthday party at the American Legion in Bethel on July 22.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala took Bill and Ginny Hastings of Shelburne, N.H., to Maurice's in South Paris to celebrate Ginny's birthday on July 18. After the meal they went to look at the McLaughlin Gardens.

Arlene Harrington took Heather Hallman home to Durham on July 22.

Florence Hastings visited with Paul and Danielle Morton and their son in North Norway on July 21.

Jerry Bernier is now working on the West Coast on a tugboat from Washington to southern California. Mr. and Mrs. Quent Bernhard and son, Quentin of Alameda, Calif., visited relatives in the area for most of July. The day they had to go back to California, the weather cleared off and has been nice.

When PNGTS put the pipeline in, they broke Nina Mollicone's water pipe that crosses the road in front of the Grange Hall. Last year, it was: yes, we will repair your water pipe. This year: it is, forget it, we will not do so, find your own repair crew, but remember we have a pipeline there.

Remember the East Bethel Church service on July 29 at 2 p.m., with Ben Conant officiating. Have a nice week.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

Have you heard it? "Hello!" Someone is coming, look outside to see who it is. No one is there. Hear it again, "Hello!" Still no one there, just a bunch of yacking crows. There have been several reports of a talking crow that provides a friendly greeting as it goes about its business.

There are many more crows than usual in our region this year. There must be plenty of food for them or they would move elsewhere. A reminder that if you find a dead crow (not one the farmer shot) you should notify the local animal control officer to have it tested for West Nile Virus infection. West Nile Virus is believed to be transmitted to humans from crows by way of mosquito bites. So far, crows in Maine have tested negative for the virus.

Heather Baker and her friend, Max McDuffee, from Michigan have been in the area visiting friends and relatives.

Birthday greetings are extended to Peter Baker.

Andover

More on that lightning bolt that hit the Andover Water District pump. Did you know that if we didn't have Ken Dixon and the Andover Fire Department's equipment, Andover would have been without water for a few days? The Fire Department has a special pump that they put into use; it was pumping 200 gallons a minute all the time the Water District's pump was down. Thanks, guys, it's nice to know you are around. What would we do without you?

Special thanks to Patty Brown for her help last Saturday at the library. Under Patty's guidance, the children made a lot of cute stuff, including bookmarks, notebooks and cards. The kids are really doing a lot of reading, and I'm very proud of them. Next Saturday is the final day and it's Party Time. I'm going to miss these Saturdays at the library. Except for the snakes, it's been a lot of fun.

Birthdays for the coming week include Pete Coolidge, Wendy Hansen, Jean Graham, Sarah Averill and Erniel Arroyo on the 27th; Penny Smith and Mary Thurston on the 28th; Noah Mosher on the 29th; Karen Thurston, Russell Hilton and Albert Abbott on the 30th; Brianna Vitale on the 31st; Kim Akers, Don Wardwell and Erin Farrington on the 1st; and Kevin Hughes on the 2nd.

I can't believe that it's almost August already. Olde Home Days is only a weekend away. Have you bought your buttons yet? The stores in town have them. If you are going to be around, please come to say "Hi" to me. I'll be on the common selling books for myself until 3 p.m. and then I'll be at the library selling books for the library. Are you as confused as I am? All I know is that on Saturday, Aug. 4, I'll be selling books somewhere, so come say "Hi."

If everything goes as planned I'll be leaving for Boston this afternoon. My son, Brian, has graciously invited me down for a few days. I only had to threaten him twice. Guess what, I can hardly wait to hit the bookstores.

The word of the week is macerate. Look it up. See ya.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

July has come into its own with the greatest summer weather of the season. The days are warm and the nights are cool. The mosquito population has diminished since the dragonflies arrived. The black flies have moved to Andover, according to Barry "the mailman" Swasey.

Speaking of Andover, Bev Swan brought me a few copies of the Flower Show program and categories. This favorite event occurs on the 4th of August at the Historical Society Building. They are celebrating their fiftieth year, so it should be very special. Several Upton women exhibit their flower arrangements each year and look forward to the event.

Last week, Pat Kenyon and Bill Simmons held an "Old Hen Party" on their deck. Deep fried chicken was on the menu and was very delicious. This unusual method of submerging a chicken or turkey in deep, hot oil cooks it in minutes. The results are remarkable and it's a good way to tenderize those big old hens.

The selectmen report that there is a charge of $5 for each tire left at the transfer station.

Donald Parsons of Magalloway is dismantling and removing the old town shed in preparation for a future salted-sand shed.

The corner of Mill Road and Thistle Street (Route 26) is a blaze of color with fireweed. It extends up Leslie and Andy Aron's driveway. There are also rugosa roses on either side of the street. Wildflowers thrive in that section of town.

Jen and Paul Casey and their girls spent the weekend in Spencer, Mass., attending a 90th birthday party for Paul's grandmother. Grandma is quite a woman. She was accompanied by her "boyfriend."

Last week, three more pontoons joined the Umbagog Fleet. The new additions belong to the Kenneses, Stanczycs and the Nelsons.

Evelyn and Jim Kenney have returned from Nova Scotia and attended the wedding of their daughter on July 21st.

While attending Mollycoddett Day in Bethel we met up with a lot of old friends and acquaintances. There was an Angevine at every event. Joan Miller and Helen Morrison had a great display of their paintings across from the commons. We met Steve Wight, who proudly announced that Mother Loon had two chicks. One is named "Dynamite" and I think the other was "Blast". Well, Mollycoddett Day was surely a "blast".

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published here by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

Lately my life seems to be a series of vague remembrances. There are so many things that I encounter almost daily that I feel as if I should know; people, questions that are asked of me, even places. But instead of recognition there is only a vague feeling that I know the people or the answer to the question or that I've been to such and such place before. It's sort of like shadows in my brain.

The other day I drove past a house that stirred a memory about something, but I don't have any idea what. I know if I could just reach down through the cobwebs of my mind I could extract a clear vision of when and why I was in that house, if in fact I ever was. But I just can't seem to reach into my memory bank quite that far. It really drives me crazy.

Living in the same area where I went to school, I often encounter one of my classmates of so many years ago. When I can actually remember who they are, which is rare even though I almost always recognize the fact, I don't remember being as friendly with them as they seem to have been with me.

Every now and then a spark of recognition ignites and I remember their name only to be corrected when I address them by that name because of course, that is not who they are.

Sometimes an old chum will go on and on about something that we did together way back when and I either remember nothing at all about it or that vague feeling of distant recognition comes over me.

Not wanting to be rude because obviously whatever they're talking about had a bigger impact on them than it did on me, I play right along with them yucking it up and telling them how great that was. Then the inevitable always happens when they ask a direct question about the incident, like, "Didn't we all go to Minnie's after that dance?" And I of course, since they gave me a clue, say "Yes we did." Then they say something like "No, no we didn't, we all went to Sandy's house. You must remember that, you were the life of the party!" I don't even remember Sandy.

The only thing that comes out of these little walks down memory lane other than the embarrassment of finally having to admit that I don't remember a thing of what they're talking about, is the feeling that I had a heck of a lot more fun as a teenager than I thought I did.

I take some comfort in knowing that my husband doesn't remember certain events, people, places or things any better than I do.

my husband doesn't remember certain events, people, places or things any better than I do. However, he is 14 years older than I am and has had a stroke.

Sometimes when we reminisce about the early days of our relationship we are both left wondering how we got from there to here. Not because we don't love each other, but because so much of those early years are pretty darn vague.

And when we both do remember certain significant events, boy do we remember them a lot differently. I know his memory is worse than mine because I have almost total recall when it comes to everything he ever did that was wrong or stupid. He seems to remember me in the lead role of "Bouchard family bad ideas", but I clearly remember it being him.

The funny thing about my memory is how it can fail me when I need it the most, but it can spew forth the most insignificant trivial junk just about anytime.

There are days that I can't even remember who I'm calling immediately after dialing the phone number and hope to God I'll recognize the voice when someone answers, but I can remember all the words to the song Spirit in the Sky from 1970. I can even remember that it was Norman Greenbaum who sang that song. Norman Greenbaum never did anything before or after that song and other than his mother, I'm sure that I'm the only person in the world who remembers him. Why my mind clings to such useless claptrap I don't know.

If I don't write "to do" lists I will immediately forget everything that I'm supposed to get done. Occasionally I even forget where I put my "to do" list, but remarkably I can recall word for word the soliloquy about the witches in Shakespeare's MacBeth that I had to learn my Junior year in high school.

I don't remember the teacher of that junior English class, but I can clearly remember standing in front of the class and nervously reciting that damn soliloquy.

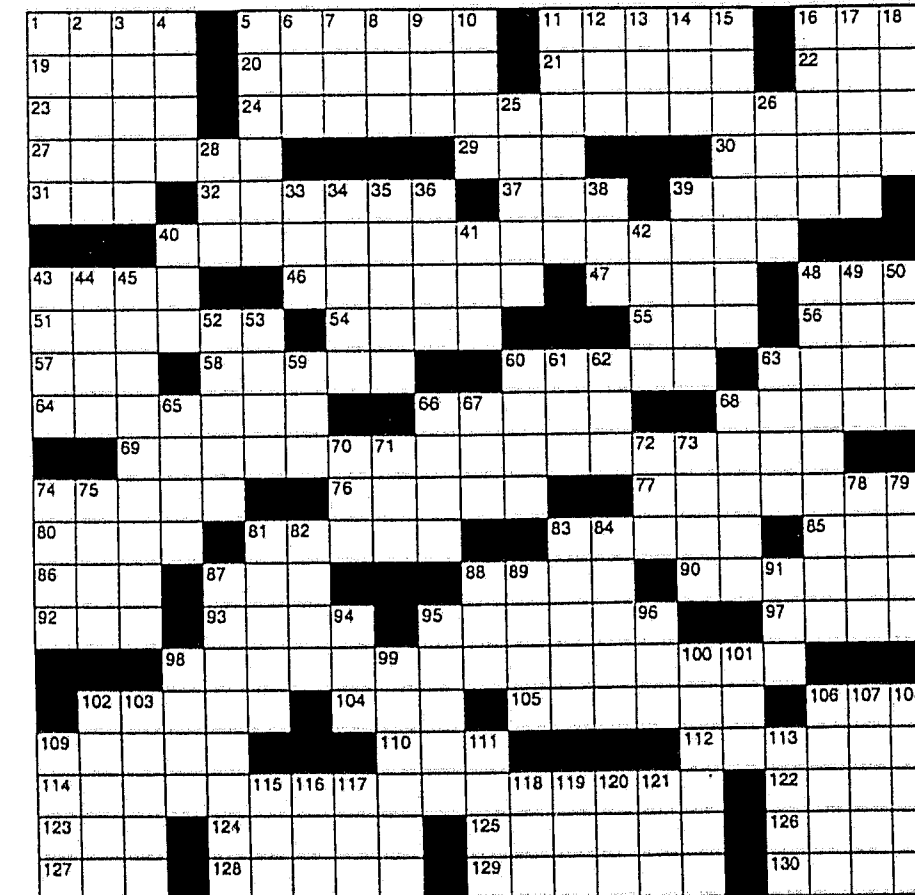

Occasionally my memory is a bit selective. I can remember oh so well the first time a boy kissed me, I can clearly remember the movie we were at when it happened and I have no trouble recalling his father's car that we rode in, but the boy himself is nothing more than a vague feeling that I should, but can't quite remember who he was.

I don't think I have actually forgotten anything that has ever happened in my life. I think the brain is like a computer that stores every single piece of data that we encounter. The problem with me is that I have stored so much data that it gets harder and harder to retrieve certain things when I need them. It's all there though, I'm sure of that. All that information that I am storing tends to run amuck in my dreams when several unrelated bits of my past emerge to create a nightmare. Then I wake up with the vague feeling that I remembered something important, but I can't remember what.

The way I see it, I'm not losing my memory at all, my brain is just too full. Or at least that's the way I think I see it, but it is only a vague feeling that I know a whole lot more than I think I actually know.

Tea Party was held Thursday, July 19. The Stratton granddaughters hosted the event tutored by Grandma Bobby. All the ladies wore hats. Some were real lulus. There was everything from a broad brimmed picture hat to a knitted skullcap, complete with an orange daisy. Barbara Stratton wore Clyde's old fishing hat. It was a real classy event.

The Ladies Aid met on Tuesday. Arrangements were made to attend the Balsams' buffet on Aug. 14. (All that good food and so little time!)

Bird watching has been on the back-burner, but Joy Yarnell reports seeing two male indigo buntings and one female. She also encountered a male yellow throat. We watched an osprey fly away with a good-sized fish in his talons. There's nothing like a good fish dinner.

The Yellow Throat will be "Bird of the Week". This beautiful little bird seldom visits settled areas and rarely takes to tall trees. He spends most of his time close to the ground and in berry thickets. The more tangled the bushes the better he likes it. He feeds on small insects, caterpillars, beetles and other creepy crawlies. Darting around like a wren he will rise to a singing perch in full view to belt out a beautiful aura of song. We hear and see them in the dense growth along the river. There are 12 subspecies of this bird. Large numbers are lost during the spring migration due to storms and foggy weather. One foggy, misty September night on their return flight to the south, 189 of these birds perished by dashing themselves into the Washington Monument. His plumage consists of a yellow breast, white belly and brown flanks. The male has a black mask and sparkling black eyes. The mask is bordered with white blending into olive green upper parts. The female is garbed in subdued olive, brown and yellow. Watch for them on a trail or on a country road.

We were happy to hear that Parker Gray is home from the hospital and Sylvia and Don are breathing a sigh of relief.

North Newry

Call to worship at the Newry Community Church was held Sunday morning, July 8, at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was "Anger and Mercy" from St. Luke 10:30 to 34. "And Jesus said a certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves which stripped him of his raiment and wounded him and departed leaving him half dead. Then a certain priest came and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. And likewise, a Levite when he saw him, he passed by the other side. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was, and when he saw, he had compassion for him, and bound up his wounds pouring oil and wine, and sat him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn and took care of him." A prayer followed with hymn, benediction and postlude. Amen.

May these "Well Wishes" be just what you need to make your recovery a quick one — to Sue B., who is home from a stay in the hospital for surgery; to Parker Gray, who may be home by the time you read this, he was in the hospital from an auto accident; and also to Sue Wight, who will be home also when you read this. She had surgery on one knee.

The Newry Mothers Club will resume their monthly meeting on Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Building.

Happy 16th birthday to Kurt Wight on July 19. Family and friends gave him a birthday party at the home of his parents, Brad and Brenda Wight. His mom made two birthday cakes.

This last week has been interesting with changes because I was taken for several rides to places I had not been before.

Rena Curtis is visiting her daughters, Colista and Lillian in Freeport, for a few days.

My visitors have been Robert Holt, David, Sally, Mary and Ann. The two Lowe girls, Bertha and Florence, when in school but now married, came for an hour.

Fay, Robert and Ann were in Portland one day to see their eye doctor.

Milton and Eleanor have returned from their fishing trip. Eleanor came to visit me.

"My teacher works so hard each day, it really seems too bad; I know I shouldn't do the things that make her feel so sad. But, somewhere down inside of me, a little rascal hides. He thinks of all these naughty things and then in me confides. He urges me to carry out the things he dares not do. But then, of course, I get the blame. 'Does that seem fair to you?'"

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday evening with a supper at 6 p.m. and Music Night was the program. It was an open meeting and 31 people attended. The program went as follows: Grange was opened with Bible opened, prayer, flag presented and "Star Spangled Banner"; opening thought, "Thank God for Music," by Bertha DeHaas; song, "Great is Your Faithfulness"; Aubrey Farrington played the guitar and sang; Erlon Hadley played the harmonica and accordion; John E. Howe was presented his certificate for 80 years of membership in the Grange; Bob Anderson sang several songs; several members of Felt's Band played several songs; Bertha DeHaas and Dot Canwell sang, "Because He Lives"; Russell Yates had a reading; Dot Canwell whistled a few songs; Althea Fish played a couple piano solos; Laura Hutchins played her accordion; poem by Lucy Robbins; Erlon Hadley, Aubrey Farrington and Bob Anderson all did one more song; closing thought, "Music soothes the savage beast," by Bertha DeHaas. Everyone sang "God Bless America" and the Grange was closed. The next meeting is Aug. 6 for Gentleman's Night, with a 6 p.m. supper.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens meeting will be held at the Masonic Hall on Aug. 2. Dinner will be served by the Birthday Club and Michael Hathaway will speak on "America Before Columbus."

Patch the Pirate Club meets each Wednesday evening at the Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m., same time as prayer meeting. Sunday services are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 4:45 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. Beth Hoover is in the process of making a youth room down in the basement of the Social Hall. All teens are invited. I'll let you know more when I know more. You may call Beth at 665-2171 for more information.

Didi Johnson says she has a nice shirt someone left at her birthday party that was held at the Maine House a while ago. If it is yours, contact Didi.

Curator Larry Billings visited the Greenwood Historical Society briefly one Saturday and thanks them for their hospitality. The society appreciates the work of its members in keeping the museum open. Thanks to everyone for volunteering. They especially value the work of Mary Billings and Kathleen Bean in organizing everyone's efforts. At the July meeting of the society, Ethel Davis showed some old photos. Curator Billings read a letter he received from President Bush. President Annella Burnham appointed committees for History Day, Aug. 18, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Kathleen Bean and Barbara Hathaway will handle the food table.

ble; Ruth Cox and Elaine Roberts are in charge of the flea market. Curator Billings, Elsie Bonney and Olive Risko will watch the museum. Paul Billings and Larry Bonney will handle setup. The picnic in August will be at Annella Burnham's home. Curator Billings has reread the Old Testament through the Book of Isaiah. He already reread the New Testament.

On July 28, the Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond will be holding a family fun day. The rain date is Aug. 4. There will be games and crafts for kids and a book, bake and craft sale. Tables can be rented for $5 each to sell crafts. You can call the librarian, Rebecca Laites, at 665-2505 for more information. The library is open Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Wednesday and Friday, noon to 4 p.m. Please come and join the fun and help support the library.

On June 25, Brad Record, 49, and son Shane, 26, started on a trip they had been planning and looking forward to for several months. They both work but wanted to hike part of the Appalachian Trail, so decided to walk 100 miles of the trail. The trip started at around Monson and ended by them climbing Mt. Katahdin. Each day they broke camp between 6 and 8 a.m.

and stopped for the night later in the afternoon. The backpacks they carried with food, shelter and supplies, each weighed a heavy 46 pounds. All the food was in the dehydrated form and some trail mix and rice. They had planned on catching fish for food, but weren't able to catch even one. The weather was hot and rainy a lot of the time. The last day of the trip, they climbed Mt. Katahdin; this is the first place in the United States the sun hits each morning. The mountain is one-mile high and it took them four hours to make it to the top. Brad had pictures and I was surprised to see how rocky the mountain is. They didn't have to carry their packs when climbing the mountain, as a small pack was provided for them at the base. Brad said that he found it a lot harder than he expected and was out of shape a lot more than he thought. They were glad to be home July 3. Brad is a machine tool instructor at CMTC in Auburn. Shane is a mechanical engineer and lives in New Hampshire. Brad told me that it was a wonderful father and son experience. Brad lives in South Paris and is married to my daughter, Kellie.

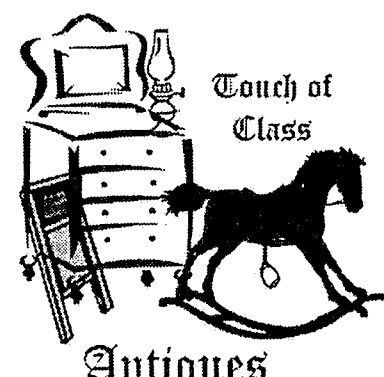

Pam Poland had the misfortune of slipping on the grass and fracturing her ankle. Pam was in the hospital for a few days and is now home.

Tommy Poland and Joan Poland took me out to breakfast at Market Square Restaurant this week to celebrate my birthday. We visited for several hours after returning to Joan's home.

Brad and Kellie Record came up Wednesday night and we had cake and ice cream for my birthday. Quote of the Week: "I've learned that some folks make you feel at home, others make you wish you were."

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. The Stoneham Planning Board met on Thursday, July 12, and discussed several permits to be issued.

The pig roast meal that was held at the Stoneham Fire Station on Saturday, the 14th, was a huge success. The Stoneham Knight Riders Snowmobile Club put this on and they did a great job. Everything went really well. Everybody had their own job to do and they came together as a good team. Robert Farrington won the 50/50 raffle.

The Stoneham Church Thrift and Bake Sale continues on every Saturday here from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. We didn't do as well this past week, but hope better days will come. There are lots of items and foods available. You should take advantage of the real low prices and it's fun to just browse and socialize.

Albert Nelson Jr. and dog, Amber, went to his camp at Wilson's Mills one day this past week.

Aren't you ever sick of all these rainy days? I am. Where is summer? It looks like showers again tonight.

I must tell you people about "Sydney." She is a new household member in a home in North Lovell, and one day recently she went way, way up high in a tree in her yard and just couldn't get down. "Sydney," by the way, is a cat. Her master called and called her but she just couldn't get down, so he called a nice, friendly professional tree climber who came over to her rescue. Thanks, Dennis. You made her day. They owe you one.

The next Stoneham Church supper will be the Turkey Supper on Aug. 16. I told everyone to post these supper dates on their refrigerator and I didn't even do it myself, so now I have to go and look them up. Here they are again. Stoneham: Aug. 16, Surkey supper; Sept. 6, beans and casseroles, etc.; Oct. 11, Harvest Supper (boiled dinner). North Waterford: Aug. 7 and Aug. 21, beans and casseroles, etc. Albany: July 26, Aug. 9, Aug. 23, beans and casseroles, etc. and always pies, from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

The Daughters of Union Veterans Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 cookout and meeting will be Thursday, July 26 at 6 p.m. Members please be there.

I just noticed in the paper today that Phil House will be performing on the piano at the Albany Congregational Church on Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. The concert will benefit the Albany Youth Group Sunday School. I sure hope that I can attend because I just love his music. He sure can tickle those ivories.

Dean Saunders has been working for Albert Nelson Sr. this past week and also Barry Andrews.

West Paris

by Miriam Inman
Stacey and Richard Burns II and son, Richard III, returned to Spring Hill, Fla., on Tuesday after spending a week with her aunt, Beryl Bonney, at camp on Round Pond.

Vince and Beverly Stevens spent the weekend in Barrington, N.H., visiting her sister, Meriel Bunker, and family. Bev's mother, Georgia Thayer, returned home with them.

On Sunday, Arlene Farr, Maxine Cram, Barbara and Raymond Farr Jr., and Donald Farr attended the Rogers Family Reunion in Barnstead, N.H.

Ruth Hazelton is uncomfortable entertaining the shingles.

The Historical Society met on Monday evening with Bob and Beverly Glines and Bill Ring on South Pond, with 20 in attendance. During the meeting it was voted to have some estimates on a septic system. A Harvest Supper for Sept. 21 was discussed. The same officers for the next year were elected: president, Harlan Abbott; vice president, Vern Inman; secretary, Betty Jones; treasurer, Faye Abbott. Members will be working on the Rummage and Food Sale to be on Aug. 4 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The library will also be selling food and books.

West Paris

by Bertha DeHaas

West Paris Grange 298 met at their hall Thursday, July 19, with a second in the series of two-point meetings with Excelsior Grange of Poland. The meeting was preceded by a buffet supper. The program was put on by Louise Roberts of Excelsior Grange and was a musical program performed by Norm and Betty Decoteau of Norway. The officers for the evening were: master, Steve Verrill; overseer, Harold Andrews; lecturer, Louise Roberts; steward, Francis Edwards; assistant steward, Harold Parsons; lady assistant steward, Millie Parsons; chaplain, Sue Verrill; gatekeeper, Wendell Harris; Ceres, Kim Verrill; Flora, Arlene Harris; Pomona, Nellie Pressey; secretary, Amy Andrews; treasurer, Nancy Dewing; pianist, Barbara Driscoll; executive committee: Earl Andrews, Andy Dewing, Leland Doughty; CWA committee: Lillian Edwards and Loretta Schmidt. A good evening was had by all.

West Paris Grange 298 will hold a Covered Dish Public Supper at their hall, 4 Church Street, on Saturday, July 28, from 5 to 6 p.m. Prices are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under.

West Paris Senior Citizens will meet at the home of Mrs. Bertha DeHaas at noon on Tuesday, Aug. 7, for a cookout and program. West Paris Baptist and West Paris Mission Congregational churches will be the scene July 30 and 31 and Aug. 1, 2 and 3 of the annual Daily Vacation Bible School for kindergarten through grade six. The time will be 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Please come and bring your friends for five days of stories, music, crafts, games and food as well as friendship and fellowship. The program will close with a program Friday night.

A group of grangers, musicians and friends from Oxford, Norway, Paris, Waterford and West Paris attended Shelburne Old Home Days Sunday afternoon, with a cookout and program at the Winthrop Grange Hall, Main Street, Shelburne, N.H. Music was provided by the Richard Felt Band.

The highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of the Community Service award given by Winthrop Grange to Brother Francis Peabody, a 76-year Grange member. He founded the Gorham, N.H., Historical Society and worked as a guide there until this year, retiring at age 91. Francis and Florence Peabody have donated the Peabody Farm on the Old North Road as a historical museum. The local school children that Francis worked with for years presented him with a "Memory Book" that they made for him.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson

This has not been one of my better weeks. First, I can't bend my knee. Then I have a thumb that doesn't want to bend and then when it does, it doesn't want to straighten out. I was told it was called a "trigger" thumb. Whatever it is, it is not any help. It makes it difficult to hold things. I suppose it is caused by the arthritis that attacks so many of us as we get older. I'm not a very good patient when it comes to anything that is called inflammatory because I do not like to take the medications that are used to treat it. After the third night of no sleep, I did take three Ibuprofen before I went to bed (the doctor said to take three pills four times a day). So I slept that night, all morning and half the afternoon. I don't know what 12 pills would have done, but I'm not likely to find out right off, unless the pain gets a lot worse and I refuse to accept that.

My son, Ralph Mills, returned to Colchester, Vt., Tuesday after spending three weeks visiting Sonda (Sandy) Olivier and two children in Houston, Texas. He was just in time to take off again this time to go to Dover-Foxcroft to a black powder shoot. He really wasn't looking forward to it much but if he hadn't gone, one of the members of the Sportsmen Club would have had to stay home, as there wouldn't have been transportation enough. He said he planned to stop here on his way back to Colchester Sunday, but as tired as he was the last time he went to one of those meets, I'll not be surprised if he keeps right on heading for home. There is nothing like one's own bed after being gone most of a month. Even though he grew up in Colchester longer than he lived here. "Ah, time in its flight!" Since I couldn't do much this past week, I got to watch the ponds a lot and was rewarded by seeing a

SHE KEEPS AN EYE ON AUGUSTA

Meet Bonnie Washuk. An outstanding political reporter, Bonnie serves as our eyes and ears in Augusta. She knows the governmental players and never loses sight of the impact proposed legislation would have on the residents of Franklin, Oxford and Androscoggin counties. Not only is she good at asking the tough questions, she also gives us a peek at behind-the-scenes activity in her "Under the Dome" column when the legislature is in session.

A BIG "THANK YOU"

After many months of planning, our conversion to a new lottery system is complete. Now all of us at the Maine State Lottery and Tri-State Megabucks would like to take this opportunity to say, "Thank You," to our players and agents.

It was a big job and there were a few "bumps" — but by working hard and pulling together, we accomplished our goal. So, to our players and agents, for your patience — and hard work, we want to say, "Thank You!"

Stop by for golf, lunch or the view from the porch.

JULY 26 2001

mother loon and her chick exploring the pond across the road. The loons don't often come there, as they prefer the open waters of the larger ponds. But I guess she thought her baby should get a look at his or her world. This one was swimming beside her, so I still haven't seen one riding on the mother's back. But it certainly looked very small beside mom.

The work on Route 26 seems to be progressing, albeit slowly. Maybe now the weather promises to be drier, perhaps it will go faster. I figure that the weather has got to be hot because it always is on Mollycodd weekend. It's just a foregone conclusion. It wouldn't dare be cold or rain. I've known years when the whole summer's heat has been packed into those three days. And now, no doubt, it will be hot from now to autumn just to make me pay.

I rode past my old home the other day and was amazed at the transformation since the siding has been put on and all the landscaping has been done, for the moment anyway. I often thought it had potential, but I have no imagination for such things and I certainly would have never made it as lovely as it is.

From the Mahoosuc Arts Council

Ever wondered what was inside that frame building in your community, the one with little or no adornment save a "P of H" sign on its exterior? That building is the Grange, the P of H, the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry, a secret agricultural fraternal order born in 1867. On Friday, July 27, beginning at 7:30 p.m. you can view the inside of Lakeside 63 Grange, Harrison, for yourself, savor some tasty barbecue fixin's and be entertained afterward.

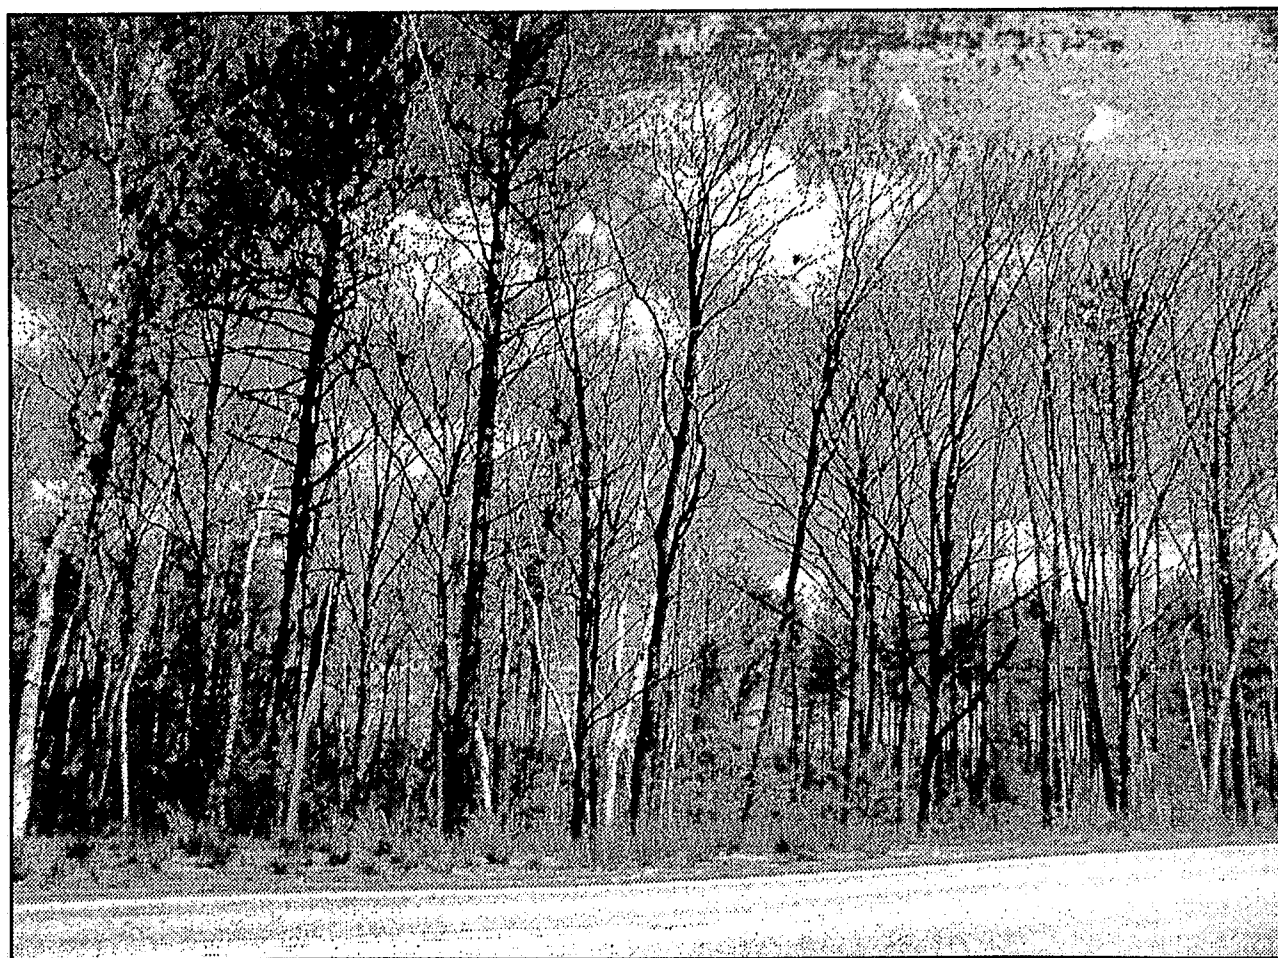

The Lakeside Grange on Main Street will host the tenth performance in the Oxford County Grange Hall Tour. Wanting to refocus public interest in these once influential community centers, the Mahoosuc Arts Council, the Bethel Historical Society and the Oxford Pomona Grange are working together to support a tour of multidisciplinary performances at the 12 Grange Halls in the county. All tour events are open to the public as well as Grange members.

The barbecue (hamburgers, hot dogs, salads, strawberry shortcake) at 6:30 p.m., adults $5 and children $2.50, will kick off the evening's festivities followed by the performance at 7:30 p.m. The Open House will feature Maine storyteller, John McDonald, and the French Canadian and Celtic fiddling of Fiddlebox. Donations will be accepted at the door for the show. Sponsors of the Grange Hall Tour of Oxford County to date include Goodwin's Insurance, the Maine Department of Agriculture, Hancock Lumber and Hanley & Associates, with the support from the Maine Arts Commission.

In addition, various aspects of the project will be photographed by Martha Mickles and documented by audio artist, Dianne Ballon, who will be conducting oral histories of selected Grange members. For more information about the tour, please call the Mahoosuc Arts office at 207-824-3575.

Fishin' For a Good Time?
Join Bait the Hook as they perform on Sunday, July 29 at 4 p.m. on the Bethel common for a concert in the gazebo. Bait the Hook is sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council and is part of the Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Memorial Summer Series. The concert is free to the public. The rain site is Bingham Auditorium on Church Street, Bethel.

Bait the Hook is a five-piece band combining the sounds of the mandolin, acoustic guitars, upright and electric bass, harmonica, congas, jembe and unexpected percussion. Band members, Cathie Stebbins, Ron Gallant, Ann Sparling, Pamela Merritt and Steve Norris, also provide lush three- to five-part vocal harmonies. Bring your lawn chair or blanket and enjoy an afternoon of great music.

From the Oxford County Republicans

Republican National Committeewoman Jan Staples was the featured speaker at the annual Oxford County Republican picnic hosted by the Bethel Republican Committee on July 10 at the Grover Hill residence of Al and Lee Barth. Ms. Staples reviewed all the exciting developments at the national committee and discussed campaign finance reform.

A number of candidates for higher office were present, including former state Senator Jim Libby (governor) and Rep. Stavros Mendros and Kevin Raye (Second District Congress). Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick and Rep. Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel) were introduced. Former Rep. Rob Cameron of Rumford announced he would seek the Senate District 24 Republican nomination in 2002.

The next meeting was scheduled for Aug. 7 at the Fryeburg Fair grounds for a potluck supper. All Republican candidates for the Second Congressional District nomination have been invited to speak.

From the Appalachian Mountain Club

The Appalachian Mountain Club has volunteer opportunities available at Maine's Acadia National Park during the month of September. Volunteers will work on trail reconstruction and maintenance projects during four-day trips. The available dates are Sept. 9 through 14; Sept. 16 through 21; and Sept. 23 through 28. Volunteers will enjoy a free day each session during which they may hike or explore the island independently.

The volunteer crew will be based in the heart of Acadia at AMC's Echo Lake Camp, which offers family-style dining, hot showers, a recreation hall, and a library. All meals Sunday evening through Friday evening are provided, as are tools and safety equipment. Participants must be at least 18 years old. Please call the North Country volunteer coordinator at (603) 466-2727 ext. 192 for more information, or visit the Web site at www.outdoors.org.

With more than 94,000 members in the Northeast and beyond, the Appalachian Mountain Club promotes natural resource conservation through responsible recreation, based on the philosophy that successful, long-term conservation depends upon firsthand enjoyment of the natural environment. Now celebrating its 125th year, the non-profit Appalachian Mountain Club is the nation's oldest conservation and recreation organization. The AMC's programs and facilities are open to members and nonmembers alike.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Joseph S. Wood, provost and professor of geography at the University of Southern Maine, will be the 11th annual Hall Memorial Lecturer on Aug. 10 for the opening event of the Bethel Historical Society's 21st annual Sudbury Canada Days. The topic of Dr. Wood's address will be "Inventing the New England Village."

A geography graduate of Middlebury College, he received graduate degrees in geography (M.A. in 1973 from the University of Vermont and Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State University in 1978). He taught at the University of Nebraska and George Mason University before becoming provost at USM in 2000.

In his seminal work, "The New England Village," published by Johns Hopkins University Press in 1997, Wood points out that the traditional image of New England with white, dark-shuttered, classical revival buildings surrounded by a tree-shaded green is an icon that grew out of 19th century romanticism. Originally, New England settlements were dispersed, but economic forces in the 19th century produced the idealized places we know today.

Dr. Wood has written and lectured widely on New England topics. His appearance is supported by income from the Ralph and Marion Hall Memorial Fund, established in 1991 by the Bethel Historical Society trustees from a bequest from the estate of Marion Hall. Its purpose is to bring a leading figure in New England history to Bethel to discuss an important aspect of the region's past. The lecture is free and open to anyone interested in attending.

From the Bethel Area Poets Society

The Bethel Area Poets Society, in its fifth year of existence, will hold the July reading on Thursday, July 26, at 7 p.m. at the Sunday River Fire Station on Sunday River Road, Newry.

All area poets are invited to attend and encouraged to read their own poems or favorites written by someone else. All ages welcome. For more information or for directions, call 824-3427.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

We need help this Sunday. The chamber is pleased to be organizing the 10th annual Powerade/Maine State Triathlon Classic and we need volunteers to ensure the safety of the 150 to 200 participants we expect. We are looking for two dozen enthusiastic individuals to wake up early and meet at the Gould Academy Field House at 6 a.m. for coffee, donuts, your volunteer T-shirt and directions. We promise that we will be done by 11:30 a.m. and you can be on your way to enjoy the rest of your Sunday.

It's a fun event that people are traveling from as far away as New York City to our town to be a part of. Please call the chamber office, 824-2282, if you would like to offer your services to the event. Many thanks to Powerade, Sunday River Ski Resort, Black Bear B & B, and Groan & McGurn for their sponsorship/prize support of the event.

Wow — what a busy month it has been with all the many events the chamber is a part of. Many thanks to everyone who has helped in any way to make these happen including our event sponsors, prize donors and event volunteers. We couldn't do it without you all.

Many thanks to Sunday River Ski Resort for hosting the Business After Hours in July. We are seeking a host business for August; call us if you are interested. Additional thanks to Sunday River Inn for hosting July's Community Networking Breakfast. We are seeking a host for the Wednesday, Aug. 9 breakfast.

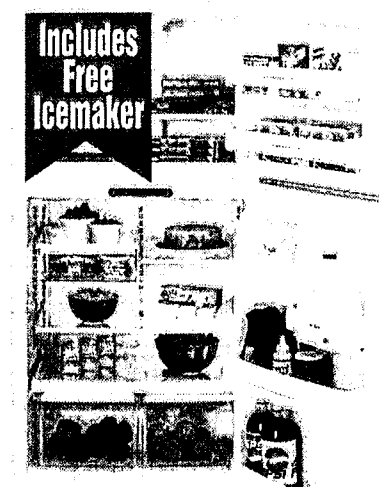

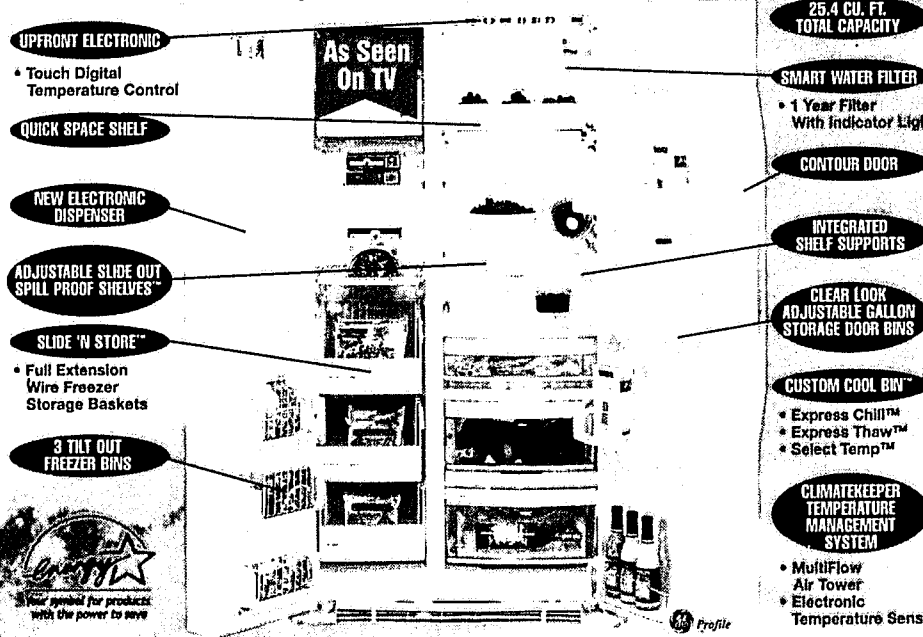

Welcome to quite a few new members who have joined the chamber this past month: Richardson Hollow Associates, Inc., Lewiston, Linda Hertell, president/CEO; J. Design Studio, Bethel, Sonja Gallant, owner; Dos Burros, Bryant Pond, Michael Kane, owner; Michele Varuolo, Bethel; Meadow Creek Farm, Sumner, Butch and Becky Durgin, owners.

Congratulations to several members who have made exciting changes or additions to their businesses recently: Designs has moved to their new location on Mechanic Street; Café DiCocoa has opened their new store on Main Street; Serenity Corners has moved to their new building on Route 26, across from Telstar High School; L'Auberge has opened their new restaurant called L'Auberge Bistro; Chadbourn Tree Farms has moved their offices to Lower Main Street, Bethel; Oxford Networks has opened a new location on Fair Street/Route 26 in South Paris; and Oxford Federal Credit Union has opened a new location on Route 26 in Norway. Best wishes to all these businesses for future success.

Obituaries

DR. DAN W. MANSON

Dan Wells Manson, Ph.D. formerly of Bethel, died Sunday, July 15, 2001 at Mercy Hospital, Portland, after a courageous battle with cancer. He was a summer resident of New Harbor and spent the rest of the year in Pittsboro, N.C.

He was born in Detroit, Mich., on Oct. 3, 1932, the son of Stewart Horn Manson and Dorothea Elizabeth Wells, and grew up in Gross Pointe, Mich. He was a great-great-grandson of Captain William Manson (Revolutionary War) of Kittery. He was also the great-great-grandson of Rufus Pinkham Manson, one of the founders of Wausau, Wis.

Dr. Manson received his doctoral degree in Paper Chemistry in 1957 from the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton, Wis. He held a bachelor's degree in chemistry from the University of Vermont, where he was the captain of the track team, running the middle distances, and a member of Delta Chi Fraternity.

Upon completing his doctorate, he worked for a year at Billaurds Paper Company in Sweden. In August 1959 he moved his family to Bethel and began working for the Oxford Paper Company in Rumford and later as director of Process Engineering at the Brown Company. In 1973, he began a 15-year career with the S.D. Warren Company in Westbrook, where he was director of Process Research. Following his retirement from S.D. Warren, he was a senior consultant for the James River Corporation for several years. In 1991, he and his wife, Marci S. Whittaker, formed The Manson Group, a paper industry consultancy, which led to a broad array of consulting assignments in both the U.S. and abroad, including Brazil, Argentina, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Scandinavia, Indonesia and Tasmania.

His career in the paper industry spanned more than 40 years. Very active in the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry (TAPPI), he held many volunteer positions and offices that included association director, chairman of the Paper and Board Division, chairman and principal instructor of the highly regarded Wet End Operations Short Course, and Paper and Board Industry editor for TAPPI Journal. He also received the TAPPI Fellow Award and the Paper and Board Division Technical Award. His professional passion was research and development, process design, and learning programs. He shared those interests as a guest lecturer at the Pulp and Paper School at the University of Maine, and as a contributing author to the TAPPI/CPPA joint textbook program. He published more than 20 articles in various professional journals. Most recently he lectured at North Carolina State University.

Dr. Manson was a great lover of the outdoors and spent many pleasurable years mountain climbing, camping, boating, and enjoying the Maine coast. While living in Maine he developed a passion for hiking. He and his family climbed extensively in the White Mountains and Maine. He climbed all the peaks in the Presidential Range and all the major mountains in Maine.

He enjoyed furniture building, in particular Shaker design. Later as a summer resident of Maine he developed a love affair with the Maine coast and boat building, becoming an unofficial apprentice at the Carpenter's Boat Shop at Round Pond.

Survivors include his wife, Marci S. Whittaker-Manson of New Harbor and Farrington Village, Pittsboro, N.C.; three daughters, Jean Manson Waite of Portland, Elizabeth A. Manson of Brunswick, and Katherine M. Webster, M.D. of Oak Lawn, Ill.; one sister, Helen

M. Fisher of Glen Ellyn, Ill.; and three grandchildren.

A celebration of his life will be held Aug. 7 at 1:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church of New Harbor. A reception will follow at the Colonial Pemaquid Inn, New Harbor. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made in his memory to the American Cancer Society, 52 Federal Street, Brunswick, ME 04011, or Carpenter's Boat Shop, Round Pond, ME 04539.

GALEN E. MILLER

Galen E. Miller, 78, of West Paris, died suddenly on Wednesday, July 18, 2001, at his home.

Born in Easton on March 12, 1923, son of the late Robert N. and Mary (McDonald) Miller, he was a graduate of Caribou High School and attended Northeastern University in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Miller was a 21-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force, and he served in three wars, World War II, Korea and Vietnam. Based in England during World War II as an armored mechanic on the B-26 Marauder Bomber, he participated in the Normandy Invasion, the Battle of the Bulge and on to Berlin. He often spoke of the plane with awe and admiration for the rest of his life.

Survivors include a sister, Rena M. Johnston of Sumner and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by a brother, Robert W.

ORGAN CONCERT

The First Congregational Church of Andover will hold an organ concert by Gary MacDonald and soloist recital by Maria Cornwell Sunday, Aug. 5, at 2 p.m.

Gary MacDonald is currently director of music at North Congregational Church, Portsmouth, N.H. He has served Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Lutheran churches over the past 40 years. He has been active in the New Hampshire and Boston chapters of the American Guild of Organists, and for over 20 years helped to rebuild tracker organs with E.A. Kelley Associates of Salem, N.H. He has given numerous recitals in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, and was organist for weddings at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall in Methuen, Mass. His early training was on an Estey organ in Hardwick, Vt. and a large tracker at Vermont College in Montpelier, Vt. Gary's "real job" is with Stewart

Edwards — Couture

Mr. Gregory Edwards of Auburn and Mrs. Jennie Fillmore of Bryant Pond are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Stacy Edwards to Daniel Couture, son of Richard and Olive Couture of Berlin, N.H.

Stacy is a graduate of Telstar Regional High School and is employed as office coordinator at Bethel Family Dentistry. Daniel is a Berlin High School graduate and is employed by the St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railroad as a conductor.

The couple reside in their Shelburne, N.H. home.

An April 6, 2002 wedding is planned.
